Club Hears Christmas Program

Husbands and prospective members were honored guests Monday evening at Maude's as the Appomattox Woman's Club heard Mrs. A. R. Harwood, Jr. (far left) review a trio of books, including Peter Marshall's "Let's Keep Christmas". Introductions were made by Mrs. Martin Webb (center) with Mrs. A. B. Norconk, club president, presiding. Mrs. Harwood spoke about the first Christmas tree in Williamsburg, Va. set up in the Saint George Tucker house by a young law student in 1842. This is included in the volume, "Trees of Christmas" at the county library. She also spoke about the best seller, "Love Story" by Eric Segal, then concluded with quotations from Peter Marshall's "Let's Keep Christmas." Mrs. Harwood recalled events of Dec. 7, 1941 -Pearl Harbor Day - and a period of time she spent in Washington which included visits to The Rev. Peter Marshall's church, New York Avenue Presbyterian. Mr. Thomas Richardson gave the blessing for the meal.

LOST ISLAND by Phyllis Whitney - A new novel of romantic suspense by this popular author. The heroine is a young woman who returns to the island off the coast of Georgia where she spent her childhood - a return. she hopes will free her from the island's mysterious spell, and from the love of another woman's husband. A dramatic story, set against an intriguing background.

MELBURY SQUARE by Dorothy Eden - A colorful romantic novel on the life of beautiful Maud Lucie. She spends all of her life in the same Kensington mansion on Melbury Square, and the novel follows her from her spoiled childhood as the daughter of a famous pre-Raphaelite painter to strong-willed old age.

THE DARK ON THE OTHER SIDE - by Barbara Michaels - A suspenseful novel about a beautiful woman, Linda Randolph, who lived in a luxurious house, whose handsome and famous husband, Gordon, adored her - and who was terrified. Enlisting the aid of writer, Michael Collins, she tried to escape from her pampered life, but the mysterious, chilling forces threatening Linda were stronger than Michael's power to defend her.

QB VII by Leon Uris - A dramatic new novel by the author of EXODUS, TOPAZ AND MILA 18. The story is based on actual events; a libel suit brought against him by a concentration camp doctor in an English court. The novel explores the backgrounds and motivations of the doctor and the novelist who are its protagonists, captures the drama of the trial, and finally comes to the unusual verdict.

In carrying out the duties of the Appomattox County Sheriff's Department, Sheriff Stanley and his three deputies worked over 10,000 man hours from Nov. 30, 1970. He and his deputies received 114 man hours of classroom training, made 236 criminal arrest, executed 54 criminal warrants for other agencies, served 827 civil papers and summonses from the County Court and from other agencies, in addition to the dozens of criminal investigations performed and answering hundreds of complaints.

Some 290 prisoners were incarcerated in the County Jail, totaling 1,105 prisoner days. 93 of these days were for prisoners held for other jurisdictions. Other jurisdictions also held prisoners for Appomattox, with the prisoner days accumulating in excess of 500 days. Some 3,300 meals were cooked and prepared for these prisoners by the jail matron.

Time and space does not allot enough to list all the many duties which fall upon the Sheriff and his Department. Although under-staffed, as most Sheriff's Departments are, the Appomattox County Sheriff's Department stands ready and able to assist people of this County and hope the people will continue their support and confidence. This Department is your first line of defense.

Sheriff L. L. Stanley and his entire staff would like to take this opportunity to wish each of you a very Merry Christmas and a safe, prosperous and Happy New Year!

Everything Lost In Fire

The entire back wall of the Jerry Harvey mobile home is gone as Appomattox volunteer firemen pour on the water at the Jerry Harvey mobile home on Road 646 near Spout Spring Friday about 11 a.m., Friday, Dec. 4, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and their two children, J. R., 7 and Shawn, 6, lost all their belongings and their home. Christmas gifts were already purchased and wrapped and a piano and other musical instruments went up in smoke in addition to furniture and clothing. Cause of the blaze? Perhaps a spark from a color TV set. Firemen answered two other calls the same day, a brush fire in town and a forest fire on Road 722 off Rt. 60 near Bent Creek. Chief fire warden David M. Smith and county forester Warren Taylor also responded to these calls on a cool, windy day.

Auction Helps Treasury

Appomattox Home Demonstration Club members have found a way to enrich their club treasury and have a Christmas party, too. On Monday evening, after a covered dish dinner at the home of Mrs. Jerry Smith, Mrs. Smith became an auctioneer, selling off hand-made gifts, all holiday wrapped, to the highest bidder. Door decorations, soap, figurines - even home made butter from Cole's Dairy, went on the block with proceeds set aside for club projects. Taking part were (seated, from left); Ruth Cole, Nannie Smith, Rufina George, vice president; Lilla Mayton, Dorothy Eastman, secy. - treas. (Standing, from left); Eva Mayberry, Ann Cole, Jane Paxton, who displayed hand-made Christmas decorations; Nellwyn Smith, Alice Lee Hunter, Winne Martin, Gladys Moon, Frances Herncall, Martha Morris and Lula Goodrich.
